

Insights

Andrew Stafford KC Analyzes the Potential Impact of No-Deal Brexit on Cross-Border Litigation with The Times

February 7, 2019

Publication: The Times

London-based Kobre & Kim attorney Andrew Stafford KC discusses the potential complications a no-deal Brexit would have on cross-border dispute resolution in The Times. With experiential expertise in multijurisdictional litigation and international judgment enforcement, Andrew explains the importance of English law, courts, and arbitration in international matters.

“Britain is currently a signatory to significant EU-wide treaties which streamline cross-border dispute resolution,” Stafford explained. “A no-deal, or variations of a hard Brexit, could remove that system, and effectively de-commoditise cross-border litigation”

Read the full article here.