

Insights

John Han, Benjamin Sauter and Nan Wang Explain How U.S. Regulators' Recent Actions Expose Risks for Hong Kong and China Virtual Currency Businesses

September 19, 2017

Publication: Hong Kong Lawyer

More than 60 percent of businesses operating in the digital currency space are reportedly based in Hong Kong and mainland China. These companies — which may assume they are protected by anonymity — are subject to U.S. government enforcement actions and private litigation, and therefore should beware the risk to business operations. Government enforcement defense lawyers John Han and Nan Wang, based in Hong Kong, and New York-based Benjamin Sauter offer advice on how to respond.

Read the *Hong Kong Lawyer* article here.