Latin American business publication Latinvex has recognized São Paulo- and Miami-based Gabriela Ruiz among its “Latin America: Top 100 Female Lawyers,” as well as São Paulo-based Carolina Leung as one of “Latin America’s Rising Legal Stars.”

The “Top 100 Female Lawyers” list, now in its tenth annual edition, looks at nearly 100 international law firms to select the top female lawyers specializing in Latin America. The selection criteria include recent track record on major deals and business, prominence of firm in Latin America and rankings.

Similarly, the “Rising Legal Stars” list looks at the 25 rising stars in international law firms, based on scope and prominence of work and future potential.
