Kobre & Kim's Israel Team Presents: Litigation Funding and Other Monetization Tools

February 9, 2016

Israel-based Government Enforcement Defense lawyer Robert Henoeh, San Francisco-based Intellectual Property & Technology Litigation lawyer Michael Ng, and firm co-founder Steven Kobre explore how entrepreneurs and investors in Israel can leverage value from legal claims arising in cross-border disputes.

During the presentation, Kobre & Kim's Israel team discussed tactics for defending commercial, intellectual property, and other rights in cross-border disputes; leveraging third-party litigation funding to enforce those rights at zero or low cost; identifying "dormant" or underutilized legal assets — valuable claims of which you may not even be aware; and enforcing judgments across jurisdictions. The program also examined strategies and tools available to Israeli businesses seeking to fully recover their assets.
