Scott Hulseley Discusses the Complexity of Cross-Border Investigations

November 5, 2018

Scott Hulseley will participate in a discussion on the complexity of cross-border investigations and at the 2nd Annual GIR Live conference in Frankfurt on November 9. During the panel “Added complexity: Implications for cross-border investigations that include Germany,” Scott will explore the key considerations of attorney-client privilege including the impact of U.S. regulations, risks to companies operating in foreign jurisdictions and privilege waivers. Panelists will also give an in-depth analysis of the recent Volkswagen decision and its implications for multi-jurisdictional investigations.
