Steven Kobre and Roger Burlingame Navigate Cross-Border Investigations at Transatlantic General Counsel Summit

June 7, 2017

Steven Kobre and Roger Burlingame will explore the world of cross-border investigations June 8 at the ALM Transatlantic General Counsel Summit in London. During the session “Navigating the world of cross-border criminal, regulatory and civil investigations — the current state of affairs,” panelists will share their experiences with the current enforcement framework across jurisdictions. The presentation will also tackle cross-border coordination and address how the changing legal privilege landscape should inform how general counsel respond to government investigations.
