Vasu Muthyala Joins GIR Panel on U.S. Enforcement in China and Latin America

November 1, 2021

How have U.S. enforcement priorities toward China and Latin America evolved one year into the Biden administration, and what should companies bear in mind? Kobre & Kim's Vasu Muthyala, a Hong Kong-based former U.S. federal prosecutor, will provide an on-the-ground view when he joins a panel during GIR Live: DC at the Hogan Lovells Washington, DC offices at 11:20 am local time, November 9, 2021.

Among the topics discussed include developments of the U.S. Department of Justice (DOJ) China Initiative; the Biden administration's National Security Memorandum viewed from China and Latin America; the recent burst of enforcement activity in Ecuador; and the new resolution on compliance programs in Colombia. Moderated by Miller & Chevalier's Kathryn Cameron Atkinson, the panel will also feature Camilo Enciso of Enciso Vanegas Abogados y Consultores, Bruce Horowitz of Dentons and Veronica Yepez of Covington & Burling.

The event takes place at the Offices of Hogan Lovells, Columbia Square, 555 Thirteenth Street, Washington, DC.
