

News

Many of our engagements involve matters in which our clients face significant public attention. The following is a list of news stories about the firm, our clients, cases and the results we have achieved.

Jake Chervinsky Speaks with Forbes about Cryptocurrency Exchange Regulation

January 30, 2019

Publication: Forbes

Kobre & Kim attorney Jake Chervinsky spoke with Forbes on the current state of regulation from the U.S. Commodity Futures Trading Commission (CFTC) and Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) in regards to crypto exchanges. The reason for delays in regulatory enforcement, Chervinsky said, is because there is no clear authority over trading within the crypto industry.

“While both of them [CFTC and SEC] have anti-fraud and anti-manipulation authority,” Chervinsky added, “neither has regulatory authority in the same way that they would over national securities exchanges in the case of the SEC or futures exchanges or other derivatives exchange for the CFTC.”

Read the full article here.