Ben Schlichting focuses on international judgment and asset recovery matters. Mr. Schlichting recently provided research and support in connection with the representation of ConocoPhillips in the enforcement of a U.S. $10 billion+ International Centre for Settlement of Investment Disputes judgment and International Chamber of Commerce arbitration claim against the Republic of Venezuela. He has also assisted in numerous asset tracing investigations for the firm, providing attorneys insights into the value of prospective claims, as well as inflection points that could facilitate more effective monetization.

Mr. Schlichting received his BA from the University of Virginia.
