Peter Mewse is the firm's Global Lead for the Channel Opportunity Program. In coordination with the Managing Director of Business Development and the firm's attorneys, Mr. Mewse leads the Channel Opportunity Program to cultivate high-value relationships in untapped local markets and advance the program into a mature distribution channel for all the firm's integrated offerings and business units.

Having held corporate sales and commercial roles whilst at Vodafone Global Enterprise, Mr. Mewse has experience of developing complex commercial propositions, managing client relationships and negotiating global agreements across a wide range of sectors and geographies.

Before joining Kobre & Kim, Mr. Mewse spent two years at Freshfields Bruckhaus Deringer, where he was responsible for driving commercial optimization initiatives, primarily within the financial institutions sector.
